

NORFOLK NAVAL NEWS.

CHANGE IN THE POSTS OF OFFICERS.

Arrival of a New Fire Engine to Take the Place of Engines That Have Been Used for Twenty-five Years.

NORFOLK, Va., July 9.—[Special.]—Captain I. P. McGilley, of the United States navy, has been transferred to the Chicago to relieve Captain J. N. Miller, who has been granted leave of absence. Captain R. R. Wallace has been ordered to take charge of the receiving ship Franklin.

Mr. Claiborne C. Hughes, a well-known citizen of this city, died last night at St. Vincent's Hospital, after an illness of ten days, in the fifty-fourth year of his age. He had been in ill health for several months, but up to the last few days his indisposition was not thought to be serious. He leaves a wife, but no children.

One of the new fire engines ordered by the city has arrived. It has a capacity of 700 gallons per minute, and cost $2,500. Next week another engine of the same capacity will arrive.

Mrs. Sarah S. D. Cooke, one of the oldest residents of Portsmouth, died yesterday evening. Mrs. Cooke was eighty-nine years of age.

Postmaster Lindsey has secured additional mail facilities for Portsmouth.

A Republican club was organized in Portsmouth last night. It was addressed by George E. Bowden, Asbury, the negro ex-Commonwealth's attorney of Norfolk county, Laessle and Major J. F. Dezenzo. The three former strenuously advocated the Force bill. Major Dezenzo declared, saying that it would defeat every Republican congressman in the South.

Paid His Debts in Stolen Stamps.

DANVILLE, Va., July 9.—[Special.]—Mayor Graves, whose illness has been reported, is considered somewhat better. While he is by no means out of danger, his condition is not so critical, and strong hopes of his recovery are entertained.

J. A. C. Thaxton, the colored man who was arrested at South Boston, charged with robbing the postoffice there, had a hearing today before United States Commissioner Leoman and was sent on to the grand jury. Thaxton has been a leader in several benevolent and co-operative societies, and also the agent among colored people for building and loan associations. Suspicion was first directed towards him when it was learned that he was paying up his accounts to the social orders and associations in stamps. The robbery occurred in December last, when the postoffice was broken into and the safe containing several hundred dollars' worth of stamps was hauled away on a wheelbarrow. Thaxton had disappeared all his stamps when arrested and quite a number were found among his effects.

The leaf tobacco market has been dull this week, receipts being small, and loose sales amounting to only 600,000 pounds; shipments of manufactured were 117,000 pounds.

Lived On by the Sheriff.

PETERSBURG, Va., July 9.—[Special.]—Deputy Sheriff John T. Farham today devoted all the furniture, furnishings, crockery, beds, bedding, bed clothing, billiard tables, bar, bar furniture, including the billiard table, to the proprietor of the Southern Hotel, on Bollingbrook street, to satisfy a claim in the hands of George W. Lane, city sergeant, against said Sheriff of James C. Farham, of Hall, and a deed of trust from H. R. Proctor to Alexander Hamilton, trustee. The amount of the distress warrant is about $3,570 and that of the deed of trust, $1,600. The above property will be sold at public auction on the 21st instant.

The contributions from the different churches in the city to the Home for the Sick for the first month amounted to $7,720.

Grand Commander Thomas A. Brander, of the Grand Camp Confederate Veterans of Virginia, has issued order No. 3, by which Commander J. E. Rockwell, of A. P. Hill Camp of this city, has been made aide-de-camp to the Grand Commander.

The match game of baseball played here this afternoon between a nine from the Petersburg Grays and a team from Church Road, Dinwiddie county, resulted in favor of the latter club by a score of 11 to 20.

Deaths of Frederickburg People.

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., July 9.—[Special.]—Mrs. Fannie L. Chancellor died at her home near this city today after a lingering illness, in the ninety-ninth year of her age. She was a widow of the late Colonel Sanford Chancellor and was highly respected. Mrs. Chancellor was a fine type of the Virginia matron of the good old times, and was the mother of Dr. O. W. Chancellor, a prominent physician of Baltimore; Mrs. Julia Charlton of Stafford, Mrs. James Abbott of Atlanta, Ga., and had many relatives connected with the city. She was buried in the family burying-ground at Charlottesville.

Mr. Arthur Haskins, formerly of this city, but late of Washington, D. C., died yesterday in that place, aged forty-five years. His remains will be brought here and taken to the country for burial.

A Deserved Compliment to the Times.

WEST POINT, Va., July 9.—[Special.]—The Baptist evangelist, Rev. Mr. Harrison, has conducted a very successful meeting at this place, the church having received fifty-nine additional members. Mr. Harrison during the course of his sermons alluded in a very complimentary manner to an editorial on the "Atonement" in the Christmas Times, and said that the Times was the cleanest and most valuable sheet in this country.

The dwelling formerly owned by Mr. Hudson Lipscomb, a few miles from this place, now occupied by his son, was consumed by fire yesterday, together with all the household furniture.

Mohrman Notes.

MEHRMAN, Va., July 9.—[Special.]—Mr. John R. Clark, of this place, died yesterday at Burkeville while on a visit to his brother, Colonel H. A. Clark. Mr. Clark was about seventy-five years old.

Mr. E. A. Owen was accidentally shot here this week, is improving and hopes are entertained of his early recovery.

The young men of this place gave a hop and cream supper at Cedar Hall last night.

Judge Witt Decides in Favor of Henkle.

BUENA VISTA, Va., July 9.—[Special.]—Judge Witt, of Richmond, who held a special term of the Buena Vista court June 29th to hear the case of the conflicting claim of H. A. White as the hold-over mayor of the town government and John M. Henkle, claiming as mayor, at the election in May under the city charter, after taking time to consider rendered his decision today and awarded the office to John M. Henkle.

Trial of a Patriotic.

INDEPENDENCE, GRAYSON COUNTY, Va., July 9.—[Special.]—The case of John M. Young, who killed his father in this county some months ago, is now on trial in the county court. The deceased was about eighty years old. The prisoner is thirty-five or forty years old. The prosecution is conducted by R. C. Jackson, attorney for the Commonwealth, assisted by W. C. Fields and G. C. Porterfield.

Virginia Notes.

Mr. Charles B. Rouse, of New York, is building a new fire engine house in Winchester of brick with marble trimmings.

Mr. J. Wyatt, of this place, brought a stalk of green tobacco to Farmville last Wednesday which measured twelve by seventeen inches.

The Standard Oil Company has employed an oil expert from Titusville, Pa., and boring will commence in earnest in a few days.

Mr. L. T. Summers, the postmaster of Abingdon, has gone to the University of Virginia to pursue his studies in Professor Minor's law school.

The effort to find oil in Carson's Cove near Hollins has proved a failure, and the company has shipped the machinery to Pocahontas. The boring was carried to a depth of 1,400 feet.

Richard M. Waller, of Gainesville, Fla., shipped a barrel of watermelons to his father, A. R. Waller, in Spotsylvania, which arrived last Friday. The smallest weighed sixty-seven pounds.

One hundred years ago last Sunday week the first religious services ever held in Salem were conducted by the Seventh Day people in the old fort built by the early settlers for protection against Indians.

Ye Cha Yun, acting minister from Corea to the United States, arrived in Salem Thursday morning from Washington, accompanied by his wife. They were met at the train by President Drober, of Roanoke College, and driven to Hotel Lucerne, where they will stay for a week.

There is a big bear at large in the Page Valley between the Hawksbill and the Massanutten. His tracks were discovered last Sunday morning. They were five inches broad, indicating a very large animal, and at several places he broke down the fence where he crossed it.

Miss Julia Ellen Kennedy, eldest daughter of Mrs. Edmund P. Kennedy, of Charlottesville, Va., and Mr. Edmund Randolph Taylor, of Virginia, were married a few days ago in Zion Episcopal church, Charlottesville, by Rev. Dallas Tucker, rector, and Rev. W. H. Meade, of Richmond.

Mr. John A. Abowd, from Mt. Lebanon, Syria, has just moved to Roanoke. He is a young man, very intelligent and speaks the English language very correctly and quite fluently. He will make Roanoke his home, engaging in the grocery business on Chestnut street with one of his old schoolmates.

There were shipped from Clifton Forge last week nine twenty-four-foot logs of different wood from various parts of the State to Chicago. They are Virginia's contribution to the collection of forestry of the World's Fair, from every State of the World's Fair. The logs were carefully wrapped so the bark would not rub off.

Mr. C. A. McIntire, of Southwest Virginia, recently rode on a bicycle from Draper's Store, on the North Carolina extension of the Richmond and Danville railroad, to Wytheville, a distance of twenty-eight miles in one hour and forty-five minutes. This is an average run of sixteen miles an hour, and is believed to be the best time ever made over a similar road in Southwest Virginia.

COURTING IN MISORCA.

The Ticklish Business Done There in a Very Ticklish Way.

Of old customs there is naturally greater survival in Iowa than in Majorca and Minorca, which have closer intercourse with the continent. The ticklish business is in bad repute as law-abiding people. They prefer, like the Corsicans, to take the law into their own hands. Bloodshed is comparatively common among them, and when a peasant has thus committed homicide he seldom chooses to wait for the judge of assize to condemn him. He evades the island and finds immunity in Algiers or on the continent. The fair sex are, of course, the chief cause of the more fatal quarrels on the island.

To tell the truth the local methods of wooing a girl seem well adapted to provoke irritation. She receives her suitors on masse. Sunday evenings are the conventional visiting times. The damsel then takes up her station in the paternal porch and waits for the young men who have conceived a fancy for her. Each youth has the privilege of sitting by her side for a limited number of minutes. He must make the most of this opportunity, for the other aspirants will not tolerate an extension of the time. If he does not get up after awhile and make way for a successor his rivals show unmistakable impatience.

Nor can one wonder that now and again, when the maiden is peculiarly attractive, the youths find this formal sennet too much for their tempers. Though unseemly, it is not surprising that they should quarrel and fight with each other, but what wonder happens the girl has a strategy part to play. She may interpose to prevent bloodshed in her very presence, otherwise it is decorous in her to welcome each suitor with the same measure of civility. Not until she has had as thorough experience of them as the Sun can impart, she will advise her doves to show the preference she feels for one in particular. —Cornhill Magazine.

A Mother of a Family and the Tariff.

In the New York Tribune of May 24th there is an article on "The Tariff and the Mother of a Family." The author, who is a member of the Republican order in a letter to the New York Evening Post, and indorses it as true. "Galathea cloth," she says, "is a most desirable article of goods for children's clothing." The material costs seven cents a yard in England, and this tariff puts it up to 50 cents a yard here. There is an American imitation of the English article which is sold at a little under forty cents, but according to the "mother of a family" it is "fimsy and worthless."

This "mother of a family" after getting some Galathea cloth happened to read Governor McKinley's recent speech at Minneapolis and was struck, she says, with this passage: "We stand for a protective tariff because it represents the American home, the American fireside, the American family, the American boy, and the highest possibilities of American citizenship. The Democratic party believe in direct taxation, that is, in taxing ourselves, but we do not believe in that principle as long as we can find anybody else to tax. We wish somebody to tax, she says, to 'harmonize Mr. McKinley's speech with the paragraph in the Tribune.' She can't, for the life of her, see that the foreigner helped her to the extent of thirty-three cents a yard when she paid forty cents a yard, and she had to pay 50 cents a yard, and, of course, hasn't as powerful an intellect as the author of the McKinley act, but she is willing to be taught. "I would like," she says, "to have you explain to me how it is that the tax of 33 cents a yard is paid by the foreigner, and the tax of 50 cents a yard is paid by my children comes out of the foreigner's pocket?"

The Post gives it up. Only persons whom self-interest or partisan feeling has trained to swallow thorny paradoxes can gulp down the McKinley doctrine. Of course the tariff makes the price so far as the home manufacturer—with the help, often, of a tariff to suppress home competition—can do it. Else he wouldn't want a tariff rate. Nobody wants a tariff rate to put his prices down, but to put his prices up. As the price of an article goes down, so to some small extent, does the price of the protected article. When the foreigner shall begin to sell Galathea cloth, for example, at 6 cents a yard, the American article will also go down 1 cent, but its price will still range up as closely as possible to 39 cents a yard. The tariff thus keeps the price always vastly higher here than abroad.

A PIFIABLE STORY.

Hundreds of People in Richmond Are Suffering for Ice.

One month and five days ago the Times published an article relative to the City Ice Mission, and for a week championed the cause of the mission. Over $150 was realized for the mission, and many a poor soul made glad, and fevered brains and parched tongues were cooled by this savior of life as well as luxury.

Yesterday I received a letter from Mrs. George W. Bagby stating that the ice mission treasury was empty and she was daily, every hour, receiving pitiful appeals for help. She again requests the aid of the Times, which is very cheerfully given.

Will not the rich and well-to-do, who have been raised up in the lap of luxury and plenty, come to the help of these poor people, who do not even get the necessities of life? Stop one moment, kind reader, while you are enjoying an icy beverage from the soda fountain or a delicious bowl of ice-cream and think of the poor, suffering folk of the city and come to the aid of Mrs. Bagby in her noble and charitable work for the afflicted in our midst.

The Times is authorized to receive contributions, and will publish the names of all who give $1 or upwards. A box will also be at the Times counter for the receipt of smaller amounts. Boxes will be sent to the State office, Dispatch office, West & Johnston's and R. L. Christian's. Mrs. Bagby will also receive any contribution direct at 311 East Grace.

There are a good many sick people in this city who are suffering for ice, and the work of charity would redound to more good than to assist in this cause. Richmond people are big-hearted and full of kindly feelings for their fellow-men and they will doubtless come promptly to the aid of these poor people, who do not even get the necessities of life. Stop one moment, kind reader, while you are enjoying an icy beverage from the soda fountain or a delicious bowl of ice-cream and think of the poor, suffering folk of the city and come to the aid of Mrs. Bagby in her noble and charitable work for the afflicted in our midst.

The Quiet Armory.

The Armory last evening was as quiet as certain Sunday resorts after the Fourth of July has been celebrated. The expected last Thursday evening was the event of the week, and Colonel Henry C. Jones should feel proud of the excellent showing made on that occasion.

On Tuesday afternoon the regiment will go through the maneuvers of the dress parade in the Capitol Square.

LETTER FROM CLEVELAND.

REPLIES TO SALEM RESOLUTIONS.

He is Always Pleased to Join in a Movement to Advance Democratic Principles—North Carolina's Welfare Promoted.

WINSTON, N. C., July 9.—[Special.]—Colonel Thomas H. Sutton, president of the Salem Cleveland Club, received a letter to-day from Hon. Grover Cleveland in response to one sent to the Democratic candidate for President by Colonel Sutton, enclosing resolutions adopted by the Salem Club. The letter was in Mr. Cleveland's handwriting, as follows:

"GENTLEMAN, BUZZARD'S BAY, July 6. 'My Dear Sir,—I am glad to hear that there has been organized at Salem a Democratic club, and since I am always pleased to be related in any way to a movement to advance Democratic principles, I desire to thank the new organization for adopting my name. I believe fully in the usefulness of such clubs, and it seems to me that just at this time a 'Cleveland Club' can be of great service to the Democratic cause in its locality. The Democratic party in the present emergency is so fully identified with the welfare and prosperity of North Carolina that the work of your organization, if efficiently performed, cannot be given to a more patriotic service. This otherwise than a patriotic service, gives to a movement the greatest importance, and I am glad to believe that our Southern people will allow themselves to abandon the shelter and protection which they know so well is afforded by upbuilding the principles of true Democracy. Working for your club the greatest prosperity and usefulness, I am yours very truly,

"GROVER CLEVELAND."

News was received here yesterday that Leonidas McKnight, the fellow who robbed and beat Mrs. Dr. Taylor at Mt. Airy several months ago, has been arrested and jailed at Greensboro, Va. It is later from the officer who made the arrest and he is confident that he has the man wanted. A telegram was sent to the officer to bring McKnight to the North Carolina line, where he would be met by officers from this State. McKnight is also wanted in Texas and Virginia.

The fourteenth annual Masonic picnic and reunion of Confederate soldiers will be held at Clement Grove, Davis county, on August 11th. The event is one of State interest.

The corn crop in this section is in a bad condition. The excessive rains have caused the grass to get ahead of the growing corn, and the farmers are looking for a poor crop. The recent storms have washed the sand from the clay banks on the shore at Carolina Beach, near Wilmington, and large numbers of marine fossils have been picked up in the past few days. The shells are similar to those used by Federals during the civil war, and were evidently dropped there by the soldiers landed through the surf to aid in making the land attack on Fort Fisher.

No convention will be held in Cleveland county this year for the nomination of county officers.

There are now over two hundred and fifty orphans at the Oxford Asylum.

A Relative of Hon. Adlai Stevenson.

WELDON, N. C., July 9.—[Special.]—There is living in Statesville, this State, an Adlai Stevenson, who is a near kinsman of the Democratic candidate for Vice-President.

While unknown to popular fame, he has a reputation which reaches far beyond the material of his meekness. This Mr. Stevenson is known to botanists, mineralogists and archaeologists the world over as one of the most accurate authorities on these subjects, and possessed of one of the finest private collections of Indian relics in the country.

There is a growing interest all over the State in World's Fair matters, and the board of agriculture, which is in charge of the exhibit, is taking active steps to secure results surpassing any previous efforts in this direction.

The Commissioner of Agriculture says satisfactory progress is being made in the fish and fisheries exhibit. In this department mounted specimens of all the valuable food fishes found in North Carolina waters will be secured. In addition to these, a number of enlarged photographs will be displayed illustrating fishing scenes and models of the appliances used at the fisheries. A distinguished taxidermist is collecting and preparing the aquatic birds and mammals. In this collection of the products of agriculture, plans are on foot for collecting this great exhibit, and the specialties of the manufacturers of tobacco in all its forms will be exhibited in one huge mass. Over the whole will be placed the words "North Carolina Tobacco."

A teachers' educational institute will be opened here on Monday by Professor Charles D. McIver, president of the State Normal Industrial School, and will continue two weeks.

Professor J. A. Holmes, State geologist, has just completed the organization of a party to make a tour beyond the Blue Ridge mountains to continue the geological survey which has been heretofore inaugurated at that section of the State.

Desperate Fight With Outlaws.

WICHITA, Kan., July 9.—United States Marshal Grimes and a posse of deputies had a desperate fight yesterday afternoon near Union City, Kan., with the outlaws who, a month ago, shot and robbed a stage, killed the driver, and captured one of the robbers. The outlaws were wounded and a robber hurt, but his comrades managed to carry him away.

The officers took up the trail and expect to have another battle. A sum of money and a watch stolen from the messenger of the plundered train were found in the possession of the captured outlaw.

A Drunken French Consul.

BREST, July 9.—The French minister has wired his Government that the arrested French consul at Leipzig is not worthy of diplomatic notice. The consul was drunk and abusing German citizens when arrested.

OUTRAGE BY DAHOMEYANS.

Six Missionaries and Three Nuns Burned to Death—General Houn Wounded.

PARIS, July 9.—The Dix Neufvieme Siecle publishes the information that the Dahomeyans have burned the Catholic mission buildings at Porto Novo, and that six missionaries and three nuns perished in the flames.

Another version of the affair says that six missionaries and three nuns were burned alive by the natives. The outrage occurred June 12th. The French Commander, General Lion, was wounded while pursuing the Dahomeyans.
